WELCOME TO 3rd Grade!

Hello dear parents and welcome back to school. Last week we had so much fun and the kids started to get used to the new class routine. We did a math entrance exam and I realized that most of them have a problem with addition and subtraction as a result I will start posting addition and subtraction sheets for the kids to be printed and solved to enhance their skills and help us avoid wasting loads of time in addition and subtraction. Please print the sheets and make the kids solve them and send them to school to be corrected. As for language arts please make sure the kids read the books that will be sent on Wednesday. The first reading and vocabulary quiz will take place on Thursday 13/09. There will be a social studies project next Thursday after I cover the lesson. Kids are to make a model or draw their community due date for project is Wednesday 19/09 as they will present them in class
